Module 1: User Guide

The User Guide module introduces participants to the Community Fire Safety Guide. This guide represents valuable tools and working templates required to develop a fire safety public education program for your department, providing you everything needed to deliver a wide variety of fire safety programs to all segments of your community. The modules include instructional narratives and participant guidelines for all subjects, and the web site and the CD allow you to customize the information for your individual department.

This guide includes instructions on how to access the companion program website through the Virginia State Fire and EMS Association website: www.vsfemsa.org. The web site has an electronic version of the guide, which includes an appendix section with printable documents that can be customized and used by your department.
